

Positioning Public Child Welfare Initiative:
Strengthening Families in the 21st Century

To find out more information and how to get involved, join us on August 6, October 12, or November 13 for a presentation on this exciting initiative.

The Positioning Public Child Welfare Initiative is designed to position the field of public child welfare to speak with one voice about:

1. Its purpose and roles in improving outcome for vulnerable children, youth and families.
2. The principles and standards that should guide its work and its professionals.
3. The ways in which the field evaluates itself and continuously innovates.
